

Gijsbrecht Roijé

Axis

for 2 violins, viola and violoncello

General

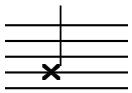

This is music to dance to. The different sounds are parts of an imaginary drumkit. Their exact execution can be adapted somewhat to personal taste, but once chosen, each notation should be played in exactly the same way every time it appears and by each of the members of the quartet. Observe the unbalanced dynamics and use Afro-experimental intonation.

duration \pm 4 minutes

press on the string as firmly as possible without touching the fingerboard, a pizzicato should sound hollow like a temple-block

put your finger very lightly on the string and suppress the generation of harmonics between finger and nut with other finger(s), or by laying the finger somewhat along the string, a pizzicato should sound like a dark snare drum put fingernail very lightly to the side of the string, pizzicati should snap against the nail ("fat" sound).

pizzicati

pizz with a very soft, fleshy part of the fingertip

pizz with fingertip (normal)

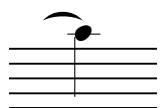

pizz ↗ with nail, "pulling" away from the soundboard (not too sharp)

pizz ↖ with outside of nail, away from soundboard (sharp, thin, with attack-noise)

pizz ↘ with nail, "pushing" in direction of soundboard (very sharp, biting)

middle pluck exactly halfway between finger and bridge (extremely creamy)

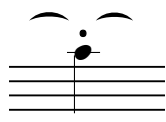

bowing

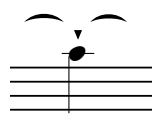

start off string

finish off string

spiccato

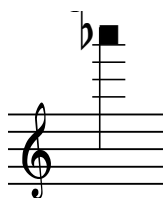

very short, biting spiccato

[0.5 mm] speed of the bow (left-right), during current note or notes under slur, approximately

[0 mm] without any left-right bowing motion

[light] - [heavy] force of bowing

try to bow where this pitch would be. Tapping with the wood of the bow helps to find this pitches (mute with the left hand).

kick start on the string, at the frog, with very much pressure, then leave the string upbow in a direction away from the soundboard, almost without any left-right bowing motion (sound: extremely short percussive high-pitched squeak)

chick start on the string, with very much pressure, then leave the string upbow in a direction away from the soundboard, applying a very small amount of upbow motion (sound: very short “fat” high-pitched squeak)

chuick start on the string, with extremely heavy pressure, then leave the string in a direction away from the soundboard, applying a small and accelerating amount of upbow motion (sound: short squeak with rapid pitch-change)

- flautando light bowing pressure, bowing speed fast
- constricted rather heavy bow pressure, bow speed rather slow
- ke start off the string, hit the string with heavy bow pressure and very small amount of downbow, then keep the bent string under the bow, ready for the next sound, which will start on the string.
Minimal sense of pitch.
- grate heavy bow pressure, bowing speed slow (sound: scratching distortion)
- [g] grating attack (short)
- crack heavy bowing pressure, bowing speed very slow (sound: medium low breaking wood)
- rattle very heavy bowing pressure, bowing speed slow (sound: rrrrr - dark "automatic" continuous tremolo, like a toy-rattle)
- growl extremely heavy bowing pressure, bowing speed very slow (sound: throaty undertone, about an octave or more below fingered pitch)
- rustle heavy bowing pressure, bowing speed (left-right) slow, with rapid change of the distance between bridge and bow, causing the hair of the bow to rustle.
